Artists often address their multiple, intersecting identities in a work of art. Identity is the way we perceive and express ourselves. Factors and conditions that an individual is born with—such as ethnic heritage, sex, or one's body—often play a role in defining one's identity. However, many aspects of a person's identity change ...

The connection between art and identity has existed since medieval times. This is because art has for centuries acted a mirror of identity. From prehistoric times, human used art to give a picture on their economic, cultural and social aspects of prehistoric forms of lives. In fact, it is argued that without the art, the understanding of man ...
